Here at Castell Howell, we are committed to providing you with the very best products that achieve the highest standards of food safety.

This is why in the wake of the national Listeria outbreak which is linked to packed frozen vegetables, we can confirm that our range is not affected.

Supplier reinvestment in quality procedures is key in achieving the highest possible accreditations and this enables us to confidently continue providing you with products of the highest quality.

Once again we would like to reiterate that our range is not affected and should you wish to speak with someone within the business, please call 01269 846060 and ask for Customer Services.

Thank you for your continued support.
